Criteria and weighting	Level	Comments
Knowledge and understanding of the topic/ issues under consideration (30%) To provide an overview of current knowledge on the chosen topic	Satisfactory	The content tends to examine the research found rather superficially and moves around quite a lot from one point to another. As discussed in the live seminars, it is better to really focus down on core aspects of a discussion point, narrow down critical research to focus on one particular area of study and gain deep and meaningful research from that perspective. This is particularly important with assignments that have a smaller word count.
Criticality (30%) To highlight similar and contrasting views on your chosen topic	Satisfactory	For future chose a more focused approach on a topic so you can drill down to the core facts and make fuller more fact based statements. I'm referring to, ' There is no common definition of what productivity means between the different reports, therefore, the interpretation of productivity or not, may be subjective. ' This is a very fluid, loose statement. For future choose a subject matter and/or research that can be fully pinned down and defined by deep research. There is satisfactory criticality in your content, but a more focused approach would elicit a better outcome next time.
Use of relevant sources (20%) To demonstrate an awareness of relevant, current literature	Very good	Very good attempt to use citation regularly and apply research from research resources. Avoid N.D. sources for future and try to use research that is appropriately dated.
Structure and Presentation (as detailed in the assessment guidance) (10%)	Satisfactory	The assignment is within word count as required. Just for future as discussed in seminars, use double line spacing in-between your lines regarding paragraph spacing. Academic default font is Arial for future. These points were discussed in live seminars. Your paragraphs tend to be shallow and chopped down. Make your paragraphs more consolidated

To showcase your research and writing skills.		and less fragmented next time. You have a developing writing style and you do try to draw citation through where appropriate. Overall this is a satisfactory outcome here.
Academic integrity (10%) To showcase your research and writing skills.	Satisfactory	Continue to work on your academic writing style. A more consolidated approach to developing your content and paragraph structure will give your assignment more depth and more expansive discussion moving forward. This is a satisfactory outcome here.
